exclusion of the Registrar. I may here state for your information that before March 1879, the Judicial Commissioner's establishment consisted of 37 hands whose pay was Rs 1960-0 a month. In March 1879 the number was reduced to 25 & the cost to Rs 1428. This continued till the 1st May 1884 when the Chief Court was formed, the number was increased to 34. Another revision was made in 1886 when the number was reduced to 30 which is the present strength. I have excluded from all considerations the servants & their pay

When there was a single Judge presiding over the Chief Court the number of Regular & Second appeals filed was as shown below.

	R.A.	C.A.
1879	6	106
1880	11	118
1881	4	128
1882	10	182
1883	11	197

Since the formation of the Chief Court the number of Regular & Second appeals has been on an average 300 & 160 respectively per annum. This means a large increase of the work of Translators, clerks, & this alone is a sufficient reason for sanctioning the entertainment of three more hands than what was considered necessary & reasonable in the years 1879 to 1884.

The Chief Court will hereafter have to arrange for the regular & special sittings of subordinate Courts & the Circuit Judge may require one or two clerks to accompany him. The Judicial & Circuit work of the Court will proceed as usual during his absence & the number of hands who will be left in Court will be 26 only.

Judges now often require interviews to come to their houses to read Canadian records & so forth, & it is absolutely necessary to provide for this contingency, a contingency which did not arise before 1884.

For these reasons I trust that you will give your sanction to my proposal to entertain 28 hands to the Chief Court

I propose to reduce the pay of the Dy. Registrar the Head Translator the Ohs of Government dated 22nd July 1864 No. 2510-12 assign to the Registrar the rank of a Subordinate Judge & to the Dy Registrar the rank of a Sheristadar of a District Court. The Government have recently ordered that a Sheristadar's pay should begin on Rs 120 & rise to Rs 125 I propose that the Dy Registrar's pay should likewise begin at Rs 100.
that of Officers having recently reduced the pay of the Head Translator also must be reduced. I have fixed his pay at Rs 100 this was the pay of a Head Translator of the Judicial Commissioner's Court.

I annex a statement of the Establishment proposed establishment of the Chief Court

this will not affect the present Dy Registrar & Head Translator It will be observed that in including the higher pay which these two officers will continue to draw, the cost of the establishment amounts to Rs 1425, & that I have effected a per manent saving of Rs 100 a month. When vacancies occur in the offices of the Dy Registrar & Head Translator the savings will amount to Rs 150 to Rs 175 It will also be observed that notwithstanding the increase in the number of hands the cost of the establishment is somewhat less than what it was before the formation of the Chief Court.

If I consider it necessary I will address you separately in regard to the establishment of servants

Light hands have only been transferred to the District Court the establish =ment is inadequate, & I have deferred filling up the vacancies pending the sanction of Government. I solicit very early orders on the subject.

Yours very truly

SERIAL No. 3.

20 Sep 1890

Dear Sir

I have received your letter dated 19 inst making certain suggestions regarding the pay of the chief court establishment. As regards the jail work I beg to enquire that it is done by another clerk under the attorney & his work in our court is paid from the jail funds & is borne on the establishment of the Central Jail. This is done in accordance with the proposal made by the Chief Court in June 1884 & sanctioned by the Govt. His pay is not included in the statement I have submitted to you saving to Rs 1375 & showing a present loss of Rs 1425. I have prepared this statement so as to fulfil the promise I made in my official letter that the saving would be not less than Rs 700. If you have no objection, I must file up an appointment on Rs 50 & one appointment on Rs 40 leaving the pay of the other officers below Rs 50 as it is at present. We have now 2 men on Rs 20 each & 6 on Rs 25 each, & two on Rs 30 each. The addition I have made is to have three men on 30 Rs, four men on Rs 25 & two on Rs 20 each. I shall gladly adopt your suggestions if you are dissatisfied with the enclosed saving than what I have shown in my first letter. I return my statement of your letter so that you may have all the papers before you.

I have submitted my statement showing an annual cost of Rs 1350

Yours very truly

A Alexander

The opportunity afforded by the reconstitution of the District and Sessions Court of the Nandydroog Division and the transfer to it of some Clerks from the Chief Court, has been taken advantage of to revise the Establishment of the Chief Court with a view to adapting it to present requirements. 2. The pay of the Deputy Registrar and of the Head Translator will, as vacancies occur, be reduced respectively from Rs 150 to Rs 100 rising to Rs 125 and from Rs 125 to Rs 100 The reduction in the pay of the Dy Registrar is necessary to make it equal to that of the Shristedar of a District Court with whom he ranks in accordance with Pro. No $\frac{2510-12}{52}$ dated 22nd July 1884, and the pay of the Head Translator is so fixed as to admit of that official taking rank next to the Dy. Registrar.

3. The cost of the Existing Establishment of the Chief Court (Exclusive of the Menial Establishment) is Rs. 18,300 and the revise scale now sanctioned amounts to Rs. 16560 rising to Rs. 16860 per annum. The annual saving thus amounts to Rs 1740, but it will be reduced to Rs 1440 when the maximum rate of pay of the Dy. Registrar comes into force. The immediate saving is Rs 70 per month or Rs 840 per annum.
